

that West Virginia's law impacts their programs. An additional five pages will allow for a full and fair briefing of Plaintiff's arguments in support of its motion. Plaintiff submits that these reasons serve as good cause for permitting the requested page extension.

Accordingly, Plaintiff requests that the Court find that Plaintiff has demonstrated good cause to exceed the page limitation set forth in L.R. Civ. P 7.1. and extend the page limitation of for Plaintiff's forthcoming memorandum in support of motion for summary judgment to 25 pages rather than 20.

Respectfully submitted,

J. David Fenwick
